The Psychiatric Rehabilitation Program (PRP) operates from a set of core values, which include a commitment to empowerment, skill-based interventions, and an environment which leads to informed choices and self-determination. The goal of the PRP is to enhance skills, support and link individuals in the community to achieve and sustain independence and community integration.

Services can be provided both within the day rehabilitation building (on-site) as well as off-site in the community. Case management is interwoven throughout services and includes assistance in obtaining and maintaining all entitlements, accessing medical treatment and linkage with all necessary community services.
